

ASU Statistics and Methods (SAM) Lab

Summer 2024 Information

What is the SAM Lab?

The SAM Lab is a resource for students in ASU's School of Social & Behavioral Sciences who are enrolled in statistics and research methods courses (with an associated course or program fee). The lab's core mission is to help students strengthen their understanding of statistics and research methods concepts and gain familiarity with the tools needed to perform social science research.

The SAM Lab will be operating entirely remotely throughout the summer.

Summer Hours

Important to Know...

SAM Lab CAN...

- Help you better understand stats and research methods by answering conceptual questions, providing explanations, and sharing relevant resources
- Provide hands-on training with research software (e.g., SPSS, Stata)

SAM Lab CAN NOT

- Provide answers or step-by-step instructions for completing class assignments
- Review completed assignments, provide grading feedback, or tell you if your work on an assignment is "good" or "on the right track"
